ERS made steps towards sustainability in 2023

We worked with MyClimate and the MICO congress centre to reduce the impact of European Respiratory Society operations.

By assessing the carbon footprint of our Congress and ERS across our three offices based in UK, Belgium and Switzerland.

- Where possible we were able to reduce corporate emissions
- Where carbon emission were unavoidable, we have offset them by investing in climate protection projects

ERS continued commitment to sustainability

- Continue to strive towards sustainable goals by continuing to make operational changes to our Congress in Vienna 2024
- Continue to offset unavoidable carbon emissions including part funding the offsetting of Congress participants' carbon footprint.
- Continue to monitor and encourage sustainable working practices for ERS staff and our offices.

Importance of sustainability to delegates

On a scale on 1 to 10, how important is it for you that we work toward a more sustainable congress?

An initiative was put in place to encourage Exhibitors to pursue sustainable goals when designing their stands.

A recognised specialist was engaged to assess the stands and recognise excellence.

It is the aim of the ERS to allow our sponsors to continue to manage their own sustainability policy when participating in ERS.

EUROPEAN RESPIRATORY SOCIETY
INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS 2023
MILAN Italy, 9-13 September

- Following 2022 in Barcelona, it became a priority to investigate an alternative to avoid queues at the Congress
- Implementation of the print@home eased the access for all participants.
- 80% of participants brought their printed badges
- Printers were also available onsite where participants could print their badge in case of need. This was not widely used

ERS Congress 2023

3rd place

- Sustainability team onsite
- One panel with QR code referring to their Sustainability commitment
- Congress/exhibition briefing on sustainability before the conference, asking employees to switch off light in hotel bedrooms, share taxis to come to congress center, use train to travel overall vs plane, etc.

2nd place

With a base in Finland, they have exhibition sustainability in the center of what they do:

- Booth elements are reused at least 25 times (message from exhibitor and exhibition company)
- Total CO2 footprint of the exhibition: 10.1 tons which is compensated by the exhibition company, mainly with reforestation in Finland and in Brazil
- Booth set-up team: 4 pax who share trucks and come together, ie from truck driver to booth builder, maintenance and return or move to next congress

1st place

Differentiation to all other booths with overall sustainability commitment:

- Company plan in place including travel from employees
- Sustainability notification on booth elements
- TRACE plan to measure CO2 footprint for overall exhibition post event and action plan in place for “compensation”

Very professional appearance: lean booth concept, open, very easy accessible, seamless use of lightning to differentiate various product/disease areas, and between commercial and medical areas. Professionally manned booths with a counter for overall inquiries and with full sustainability company plan in place from the exhibition agency to the exhibitor
